NERCA Conducts Final Auction of 1980

As this issue of Inventory Selections goes to press, New England Rare Coin Auctions, the auction division of New England Rare Coin Galleries, is conducting its final numismatic sale of 1980. Entitled The David K. Carnegie Sale, this auction is scheduled to run in four sessions. Highlights include a Mint State 1913-S Indian Half Eagle; possibly the finest known 1873-CC Liberty Head Eagle; a 1796 Early Quarter in MS-65; and an 1845 Half Cent in Proof-65. The December Inventory Selections will carry a special report on prices realized at The David K. Carnegie Sale, and New England Rare Coin Auctions would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the consignors and bidders involved. We look forward to seeing you again in January when New England conducts the 1981 F.U.N. (Florida United Numismatists) Auction in Orlando. To reserve your copy of the 1981 F.U.N. Auction Catalog, send $5 to: NERCA, P.O. Box 1776, Boston, MA 02105. Release of the 1981 F.U.N. Auction Catalog is scheduled for December 5.

Subscriptions to New England World Selections, our bi-monthly ancient and world coin catalog, are still free. To subscribe, simply call your New England numismatist, or send us your name and address. New England World Selections will introduce you to a whole new world of fascinating numismatic collectibles.

A happy Thanksgiving to all our fellow collectors. Bruce Laing

Bruce Laing, New England Rare Coin Auctions' Consignment Administrator, remembers that July morning as if it was yesterday. David Carnegie had travelled to New England's Boston headquarters to have a small selection of his coins evaluated for auction. "While we were discussing terms of sale, David showed me a list of hundreds of other coins in his collection. He had been in close contact with New England for more than a year, but that morning, when David decided to offer his coins at public auction, I was ecstatic. His collection was one of the finest I'd seen."

Coming from Bruce Laing, this is high praise indeed. He has viewed some of the numismatic world's top collections and is constantly called upon for advice on the methods and timing of liquidation. Bruce draws on his knowledge of the numismatic market with constantly-updated information, and on his keen business sense, developed while he was manager of an industrial real estate firm in Massachusetts. "A decision to liquidate is based on market demand, the collection itself and the collector's personal plans. I explore all avenues before determining the best options."

A Brookline, Massachusetts, resident, Bruce holds a BA in Psychology from Northeastern University and a master's degree in Public Administration from Suffolk University. He is researching and drafting a work of historical fiction, which complements his interest in the historical significance of coins. Bruce is also treasurer of a small Boston theater company.

Bruce's skills are also utilized by museums, banks and private estates, but a major portion of his time is spent advising collectors. "It's fascinating. One morning I'll meet a collector who spent 40 years assembling a set of Barber Proof coins with a particular golden tone. That afternoon someone will come in with a coin that has been lying in a drawer for years. The coin may be worth $20,000 and the owner had no idea of its value or history. It's this kind of diversity among collectors that makes the numismatic market so dynamic — and my job so enjoyable."

Special Report:

New England & Milton Friedberg Examine the Danforth Shield

The W.S. Danforth Shield. Now hanging in the headquarters of New England Rare Coin Galleries, this unique syngraphic property is now available for public inspection.

Recently, Milton R. Friedberg, author of The Encyclopedia of United States Fractional & Postal Currency, and Lee J. Bellisario, director of New England Rare Coin Galleries' currency division, met in Boston to examine an exciting find. Several weeks earlier, James Halperin, chairman and founder of the Galleries, had discovered and purchased a privately-made Fractional Currency Shield. During 1866 and 1867, several such shields were produced by the U.S. Treasury Department. These federal shields measured 20" x 25" and 39 specimens of Fractional Currency were mounted upon them. Each mounted note was printed on one side only, meaning that the obverse and reverse of a single note would appear on the shield as two separate notes. Each shield was then covered with glass, framed and sold to a bank. Once mounted on a bank wall, the shield was used to detect counterfeit currency. This was accomplished by comparing suspected counterfeits with the genuine specimens on the shield. According to Robert Friedberg, author of Paper Money of the United States, "Complete and intact shields are now much in demand and are available only occasionally."

New England's shield, however, was not made by the Treasury Department. It was, instead, created by W.S. Danforth, probably for a private collector. As such, the shield has many characteristics that differentiate it from federal shields. Chief among these is the inclusion of several notes from the fourth issue (July 14, 1869-February 17, 1875) and fifth issue (February 26, 1874-February 15, 1876) of Fractional Currency. Federal shields include only Fractionals from the first through third issues. In addition, there is a legend beneath the shield which identifies its maker: "W.S. Danforth, Boston, March 27, 1873."

Milton R. Friedberg (left) points to one of two possible major rarities on the shield while New England currency director, Lee J. Bellisario, looks on.

Milton R. Friedberg (foreground) and Lee J. Bellisario study the intricate designs of Fractional Currency on the Danforth Shield.

In order to study the shield more closely, Lee J. Bellisario asked Mr. Friedberg to join him in scrutinizing this intriguing piece of syngraphic history. Mr. Friedberg was particularly excited by one note on the shield which he believes may be a major rarity. This is a 50¢ note (1874-1876, Milton-5E5OR. 3a. Essay) with a reverse design in green ink printed on cream white paper with minute pink fibers and long lilac fibers distributed throughout. Localized blue fibers appear on the right end of the corresponding obverse design.

Mr. Bellisario also pointed out another rarity on the shield: again, a 50¢ note (1864-1869, Milton-3S5OR.3. Specimen). This note features a green reverse design with bronze surcharge and a large double-lined "50." It is printed on thin white paper with no watermark. A new design, this is a narrow margin specimen with no matching obverse evident on the shield. Friedberg has cataloged only six previous examples.

One more intriguing detail was mentioned by Mr. Bellisario. Some of the specimens on the Danforth Shield have actually been pasted over other notes. According to Mr. Friedberg, this is because common specimens were probably replaced by rare ones as they were acquired by the shield's owner.

The W.S. Danforth Shield is currently hanging in New England Rare Coin Galleries' Boston headquarters at 89 Devonshire Street where syngraphic and numismatic enthusiasts may examine it.

Two notes identified by Milton Friedberg as possible major rarities on the Danforth Shield. At left, the reverse of a 50- note from the fifth issue of Fractional Currency, and at right, the reverse of a third issue note.

Market Report

by Tim LaPointe

At the shows

After a several-month period of relative quiet, the numismatic market is now showing signs of a new strengthening. Nowhere was this more evident than at October's two major coin shows: the Dealer's Numismatic Association Convention (held October 17-19 in Lanham, Maryland), and the Middle Atlantic Numismatic Association Convention (held October 24-26 in Wilmington, Delaware). While there were no records for attendance at these shows, trading activity was very high. Mint State and Proof U.S. type coins were again favorite purchase items, and the demand for foreign coinage was as high as ever. Particularly hot items seemed to include common-date U.S. gold and Commemorative Half Dollars in Choice Gem or better condition.

Gold

With the continuation of the Iran-Iraq conflict, the expectations of gold bullion speculators have apparently diminished. Gold has settled back to $647 per ounce, and bullion coins (Maple Leafs, Kruggerands, etc.) have experienced a consequent decrease in value. Numismatic gold, however, is experiencing the beginnings of a resurgence. U.S. common-date UNC gold coinage continued to maintain high price levels, while Proof gold coinage was actively sought by dealers across the country. One 1900 Liberty Quarter Eagle in Proof-69 recently traded hands in the $20,000 range, while an 1881 Half Eagle Proof brought over $30,000. Better-date St. Gaudens Double Eagles are also showing signs of strength, with both dealers and collector/investors displaying a willingness to pay premium prices for truly exceptional pieces.

One other factor affecting the current gold market is the coming of the holiday season. Many dealers are now actively seeking circulated gold coinage for their customers as holiday gifts.

Silver

Silver bullion is down since our last report, now standing at $19.60 per ounce. Despite this, most of the silver numismatic market has remained unaffected. In fact, Mercury Dimes with full split bands are continuing to bring higher and higher prices. Silver dollars in true Gem condition are being bought by many dealers at levels well above current Coin Dealer Newsletter bid. However, dealers are becoming more picky about grading than they were 4 or 5 months ago, and coins for sale must be absolutely Gem to realize above-bid prices. A coin that is a little off Gem will bring a lot less than a true Gem. Walking Liberty Half Dollars are again showing signs of increased activity, with Gem specimens quoted at much higher levels than indicated by Coin Dealer Newsletter.

Other hot areas in silver coinage seem to be coins which, during past months or years, have remained relatively stagnant. Such coins are still reasonably priced and many dealers feel that their potential for appreciation is extremely high. One example: Commemorative Half Dollars in true MS-65. A majority of these coins are relatively inexpensive and are slotted by some dealers as ripe for attractive gains in the not-too-distant future.

Copper

Lincoln Cents seem to be the rage in today's numismatic copper market. Coin Dealer Newsletter has done a special report on Lincoln Cents this month, and a 1922 Plain in MS-67, Full Strike sold for over $27,000. This is a record price for Lincoln Cents but is bound to be broken if current trends continue. Early copper coinage in full mint red condition is also being eagerly sought, with dealers willing to pay premiums for exceptional pieces.

Currency

Interest in the U.S. currency market continues at a steady but guarded pace, and the switch from U.S. Gem Large Size Notes to Fractional and Small Size Currency seems to be in full swing. There were increased demands at recent conventions for 1934 $5 and $10 Silver Certificates and 1928 $1 Legal Tender Notes. Fractional Currency, despite its marked increase during the last year, continues to show plus signs in both the Green Sheet and Currency Dealer Newsletter. The current dealer-to-dealer demand for Large Size Federal Reserve Notes has slipped 30% in the last two months, but there is an increased interest in all circulated type notes, due in part to the high cost of most Large Size Notes. The Small Size $1 Hawaiian Surcharge Notes are still actively traded dealer-to-dealer in the $65-$85 range. Overall, the market is sound, with heavy activity in the $2,000 or less range.

World Coins

Signs of growing interest in world coinage continued to spring up everywhere throughout October. Among the items showing the greatest amount of activity were Mint State coinage of all types and English Maundy Sets. Also highly active are quality specimens of English hammered coinage. In fact, we witnessed an interesting occurrence in this field at a recent European show. An Elizabeth I Gold Sovereign traded hands first for $24,000, then for $26,500 minutes later, and finally, in less than 24 hours, was again resold for $36,000! This is quite remarkable in that, less than one year ago, the original owner of this coin could not find a buyer at $15,000!

A third area of fierce trading in past weeks has been 19th century Greek and Russian coinage. Both collectors and dealers who, in the past, have ignored this area, are awakening to the fact that, in spite of relatively large initial mintages, Mint State and Proof coins of these series are quite rare. This fact, combined with the growth in the number of collectors entering the world coin market in general, seem to spell good news for the futures of high-grade 19th century Greek and Russian coinage.

After reading Numismatic Forum for nearly 2 years I decided to expand my numismatic library to the point where I could answer my own esoteric questions. But it seems that everyone else has the same idea — used book prices in the coin field have shot up right along with coins themselves. Do you have any suggestions for the knowledge seeker of moderate means? — S.T., Braintree, MA

First of all, don't despair. Book prices may have gone up, but they'll never reach the heights coins have hit this year. For the price of a Gem Barber Quarter you can still outfit a formidable collector's bookshelf, with plenty to spare. Buy selectively and whenever possible buy modern reprints of the classic books. Sylvester Crosby's Early Coins of America, for instance, which may cost $500 for the rare 1875 first edition, is available new and used in several 20th century reprints for much less.

Any librarian will tell you that the key to library-building on a budget is "back to basics." Start with the key books, the ones which will answer 90% of your questions 90% of the time. When these fail you, consider borrowing books from the ANA's vast library — a service available to any ANA member for the price of postage. Unless you yourself are actually writing a numismatic reference book, you will never need to actually own such high-priced items as 19th century rare coin auction catalogs.

I was reviewing data on U.S. Early Dollars and found the series ended in 1803. Am I mistaken in assuming the series ended a year later? — J.M., Greenville, OH

Business strikes of the 1804 Silver Dollar do not exist. However, 15 silver dollars dated 1804 are known to exist today. Mint records show that 19,570 silver dollars were minted in 1804. But because old dies were in good condition, they were used for striking and the coins were dated 1803. Meanwhile, the U.S. government decided to stop producing silver dollars, which were widely being used internationally, instead of domestically.

Years later, in 1832, U.S. Mint Director Dr. Samuel Moore was asked for two complete sets of new U.S. gold, silver and copper coins. The sets were to be given to the King of Siam and the Sultan of Muscat during U.S.-Asian trade negotiations. Dr. Moore, unaware that old dies had been used with the 1803 date, struck silver dollars dated 1804. A few more copies of the coin were minted in 1858, after John Eckfeldt, son of the foreman of the Philadelphia Mint Engraving Department, got the obverse dies made for the 1804-dated dollar.

Most coins from the turn of the century include the words "In God We Trust," but I noticed the motto was omitted from the 1907 Eagle. Was this an oversight? — J.M., Buffalo, NY

No, the motto was intentionally deleted that year because President Theodore Roosevelt considered it blasphemous to place the name of God on a coin. Though the motto had appeared on all U.S. coins since the mid-1860's, Roosevelt found it was not required by law. He ordered the words deleted from the newly designed 1907 Eagle and Double Eagle. (Some variations of the 1908 Eagle do not have the motto.) Because of strong public opposition, this change did not last long. In 1908, Congress passed a bill directing that the motto "shall hereafter be inscribed upon all such gold and silver coins of said denominations as heretofore." Roosevelt promptly withdrew his objections and ordered the motto once again be placed on the coins.

Roosevelt, by the way, was the first president since George Washington to take an interest in the artistic merit of U.S. coinage. He hired the world-known sculptor Augustus Saint-Gaudens to redesign American coins and make them similar to ancient Greek coins, which had higher relief and more intricate detail. Roosevelt's attitude is reflected on the obverse side of the 1907 Eagle. Liberty is facing left and her profile is based on the sculptured head of Victory.

I read somewhere that early American settlers tore paper money in half to compensate for a shortage in small change. Do you know anything about this? — P.M., Ann Arbor, MI

The practice of using "broken money" came about largely because of the oversized paper money used in New England colonies. These bills, which had to be folded to fit into a pocket or purse, eventually split along the creases, and sections were lost. In most cases, there was no reserve supply for replacing torn bills. It became acceptable to have the remaining portion of the bill worth a fraction of the original denomination.

Later, colonists began intentionally tearing the paper money into halves or quarters due to a shortage of small change. Each of the colonies had its own way of dealing with this problem. Connecticut, for example, in 1735 marked some newly printed bills with the value of a quarter section. A 2 shilling, 6 pence bill had "Seven pence half-penny" printed on the back of each quarter, giving each section its own value. Two years later, Rhode Island issued low-denomination bills to withdraw half and quarter sections from circulation.

I would like some background on the "holey" dollar, which was an early form of currency in Australia. As I understand it, the coin has a hole punched through the middle. — A.P., Chico, CA

That is correct. In 1812, 10,000 silver dollars were shipped to Sydney, Australia, from the British. These were the first coins authorized by England for Australia, though the land was established as a British penal colony in 1788. When the coins were shipped, silver was highly valued worldwide. To keep them in the colony, Lachlan MacQuarie, Governor of Australia, defaced them by having holes punched through the middle of each dollar. "New South Wales, 1813," was stamped on one side, and "Five Shillings" on the other. The piece that was removed, called a "dump," was stamped "Fifteen Pence." The worth of both coins was more than the original value of the silver dollar.

Yesterday's headlines...

In 1976, 407,283 silver dollars were purchased for $7.3 million from the estate of millionaire LaVere Redfield. This was the world's largest private numismatic transaction — later recorded in the Guinness Book of World Records and in countless national news stories. Today, New England Rare Coin Galleries offers a special selection of Morgan Dollars from this historic hoard — each hand selected by our own numismatists.

New England Rare Coin Galleries' Ancient and World Coin Division

A new service for collectors

New England Rare Coin Galleries, world's largest dealer in rare U.S. coinage, also offers an exciting selection of ancient and world coins through its new Ancient and World Coin Division. Established in September of 1979, New England's latest collector service division is headed by internationally-renowned numismatist Frank Garofalo. Mr. Garofalo's considerable numismatic skills have been sharply developed by almost two decades of professional rare coin experience. Before joining New England, he ran his own highly successful coin dealership and served as a District Representative for the American Numismatic Association. Under his direction, New England's Ancient and World Coin Division now brings history's most desirable numismatic rarities to today's collector.

New England World Selections™

New England World Selections is the official catalog of New England Rare Coin Galleries' Ancient and World Coin Division. Each issue of this quality bi-monthly publication offers its readers a spectacular selection of world coinage; a world coin market report; beautiful coin photography (much of it in full color); and many special features. For a free trial subscription to New England World Selections, call New England Rare Coin Galleries toll-free: 800-225-6794 (in Massachusetts: 617-227-8800). New England's Ancient and World Coin Division will be happy to include you on our mailing list.

World Coins

Collecting ancient and world coins is one of man's oldest hobbies. The Emperor Nero collected coins from Greece. Fourteenth century Italian nobles collected Roman coins. English gentlemen of old considered the study of ancient coins a crucial part of a proper education. Today, ancient and world coin collecting is the fastest-growing area in numismatics.

Inventory Selections is proud to present the following offerings of ancient and world coins taken from the latest issue of New England's bi-monthly world coin catalog, New England World Selections. When ordering, please refer to the "W-numbers" that appear before each coin listing. If you'd like a free trial subscription to New England World Selections, which offers New England's entire ancient and world coin inventory, call or write to New England Rare Coin Galleries.

An Invitation to Greater Knowledge

Numismatics is a world unto itself — vast in scope, rich in history, fascinating in detail. To explore this world is to be captivated by it — and to explore it fully is to become a member of the American Numismatic Association.

The American Numismatic Association (the A.N.A.) is the world's largest and most active numismatic organization. And when you join, you'll receive:

Use of the A.N.A. Library The largest numismatic library in the world from which you can borrow all kinds of numismatic reference works.

The Numismatist A scholarly monthly magazine sent free to all regular, club, junior and life A.N.A. members. Through The Numismatist you'll expand your collecting horizons and become knowledgeable in a wealth of numismatic subjects.

ANACS Service The A.N.A.'s grading and authentication service for all your coins at a special membership rate.

Insurances Offered through the A.N.A. for your collection, your health, and your life.

Plus you'll receive a free Dictionary of Numismatic Terms, an Introduction to Numismatics, and an invitation to participate in the A.N.A.'s annual conventions and auctions.

Our Complete Numismatic Services

1. Guarantees

☐ Grading

We guarantee that coins purchased from us are graded correctly and will meet our high standards when you wish to sell them. Further, we guarantee to purchase these coins at the same grade at which they were sold, or sell them for you at auction cataloged at the same grade at which you purchased them.

Our grading system is patterned after that of the American Numismatic Association. Developed in 1978, the A.N.A. System is rapidly being adopted by virtually the entire professional numismatic community. Its designations are:

Poor.....	1
Fair.....	2
About Good.....	3
Good.....	4,5
Very Good.....	8,10
Fine.....	12,15
Very Fine.....	20,25,30,35
Extremely Fine.....	40,45
About Uncirculated.....	50,55,58
Mint State.....	60,63,64,65,66,67,69,70
Proof.....	60,63,65,67,69,70

Slash grades indicate obverse/reverse designations. For example, a grade of 65/63 describes a coin with an obverse of Mint State 65 and a reverse of Mint State 63.

☐ Authenticity

We further guarantee that all coins sold by New England Rare Coin Galleries are authentic. To protect our customers, and as proof of our certainty that no altered or counterfeit coin can escape our attention, we guarantee to refund the full purchase price plus 15% compound annual interest, on any non-authentic coin acquired from us.

☐ Documentation

These guarantees are issued in writing with all coins purchased from New England Rare Coin Galleries. Each written guarantee is personally endorsed by two professional numismatists.

☐ Satisfaction

If, for any reason, you are not satisfied with your purchases, you may return them within 45 days of the date you received them for a full refund or replacement.
